Our vision

Our vision is to create a future where people openly share their experiences and expand their knowledge. In doing so, they contribute to more productive, efficient, and collaborative organizations worldwide.

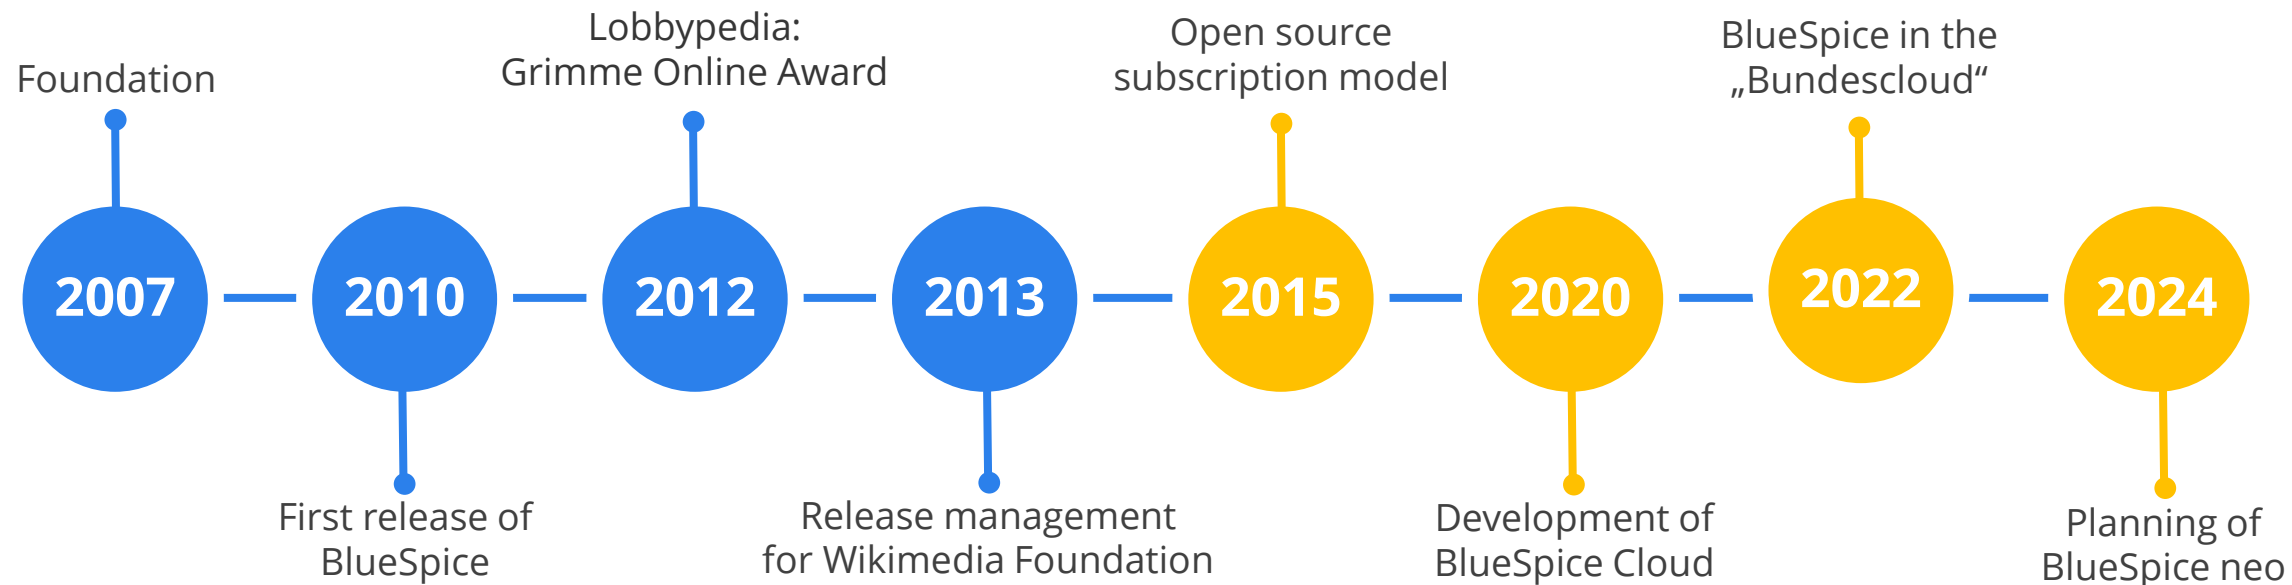

Our mission

We develop and distribute BlueSpice, the world's leading open source software for corporate wikis: it enables employees to share their knowledge within organizations and companies.

Our history

Innovative wikis for professional users

One software, many use cases

- Knowledge management
- Integrated management system for quality management, environmental management, or risk management
- IT documentation and technical documentation
- Organization manual
- Knowledge databases for service & support
- Intranet in wiki style
